Max consistently displayed an unwavering commitment to their responsibilities, reflecting their dedication as a team player. Their collaborative approach, along with their ability to manage and motivate a diverse team, significantly contributed to the seamless operations of our beach club.

As a Floor Manager, Max introduced new incentives for upselling that led to a substantial increase in both sales and guest satisfaction. Their ability to think beyond convention and adapt to emerging trends underscores their value to any organization.

I must also highlight Max's remarkable achievement in hosting a spectacularly successful White Party event. In their capacity as an Event Manager, they orchestrated an unforgettable evening that showcased their event planning prowess, meticulous attention to detail, and a knack for generating additional revenue through innovative concepts. The White Party not only drew a significant number of attendees but also garnered rave reviews from guests who relished the unique ambiance and experience Max meticulously crafted.
